Public Works Director

City of Tumwater

Career Opportunity

Are you a service-oriented leader with a strong desire to make the City a better place to work, live, and play?

The City is seeking a leader who can continue the organization's commitment to innovation, creativity, hard work, professionalism, and customer service along with a dedication to public service.

Tumwater is the home of many unique and exciting projects. A new Public Works maintenance and operations facility is now in preliminary planning. The Washington State Library and Archives will join a host of State facilities located in Tumwater, among them the new Military Readiness Center. The Public Works Director works closely with policymakers, external partners, stakeholders, and other City staff on infrastructure development and service delivery. With an aggressive Transportation Benefit District focused on preservation of streets and sidewalks, there's no shortage of projects.

The ideal candidate will be agile and innovative in meeting the challenges of rapid growth, increasing transportation needs, aging infrastructure, and fiscal constraints.

Join our team of dedicated public servants and make a difference!

Bring Brewing Back! Our economic development strategy centers around craft food and beverage.

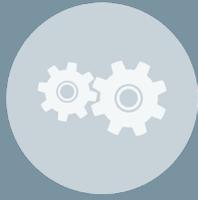

Tumwater is home to South Puget Sound Community College's new brewing and distilling facility, located in the Craft District. Our future growth includes an incubator facility for small brewers and distillers, and public amenities—trail connections, a river walk, museum, preservation of the historic Old Brewhouse Tower, and redevelopment of the iconic Olympia Brewery property.

About the City

The City of Tumwater is the oldest American settlement on Puget Sound. The area was chosen for its many natural resources, rivers, prairies, forests, and beaches. A vibrant mix of community-minded people and prosperous natural resources makes Tumwater rich in history, community, and opportunity.

A full-service City, we provide a wide range of services to the community.

- 18 square miles
- 44th largest city in the state
- 24,060 population

About the Department

Tumwater's Public Works Department is comprised of two divisions—Engineering and Operations & Maintenance.

The Engineering Division manages the City's Capital Facilities Plan projects and the administrative aspects of the utility and transportation systems with 20 budgeted staff positions. GIS mapping and survey, development review coordination, public information, and customer service response programs are coordinated through Engineering.

The Operations & Maintenance Division is responsible for the operation, maintenance, and repair of the transportation and utility infrastructure with 35 budgeted staff positions, plus seasonal employees. City vehicles and rolling stock are maintained by Public Works employees, and included in the Fleet & Equipment Rental and Replacement Fund.

City utilities are well-funded and experience regular inflationary increases and strong support from elected officials.

The annual operating budget for public works funds is approximately $16.5 million and the total Capital Budget is $13.2 million. The operating budget includes $6 million in annual expenditures to LOTT that are pass-through dollars.

Customer Service

It's not just part of our culture, it's one of our core competencies!

About the Job

The City of Tumwater embraces a diverse and inclusive workforce and encourages collaboration and teamwork to provide the highest quality services to the community.

An integral member of the City's leadership team, the Public Works Director serves a critical role—overseeing capital projects, design and operation of the transportation, water, sanitary sewer, and storm drainage systems for Tumwater. The Director is the chief spokesperson and serves as a consultant to the City Administrator and City Council on matters pertaining to the City's Public Works programs.

The Director is accountable for the effective operation of all public works programs within the City and plans, organizes, and directs all activities of the Department. As a department director, the position supervises, directs and evaluates all department staff either directly or through subordinate supervisors.
